Hi Guys
Some info for you

Hospicom

I'm keeping my fingers crossed that this time next week we will be able to confirm some positive news about hospicom.

Station Output Logging

The trial of the recording of our output onto the computer has been successful. I have donated my old PC and yesterday installed it in the engineering room.

If it's ok next Saturday, the use of the video will not be required. Watch this space.

Engineering Room Temperature

The cooling unit has been switched on because of the extra heat in the room. Leave the door closed if it's too cold in the library.

Inductive Loop AM Service

The hospital are to install a CT MRI scanner at the site. This will be located in the diagnostics unit. I have been advised this week that two of the am aerials are in the way. Whilst I have asked that they don't interfere with them before Radica come and shift them, please check the TX before you go out on the wards to make sure the four cable lights are on.

Rhapsody

I would hope that over the coming weeks we all make a concerted effort to produce some material for Rhapsody. Taking a back seat with this, is not helping the development of the service. Over the coming weeks there will be a substantial change in the way the radio station is perceived. I have been fighting with the trust for our survival, if we can't deliver on this then we might as well, all call it day. It could be our saviour, so all please think very carefully how you might contribute !.

I personally, have now not broadcast for eighteen months as engineering and associated jobs with Rhapsody has prevented me from participating. We are a year on from the first switch on. This is not been through choice, I know how critical it is to our future.

We are all in the privileged position of using equipment which is well maintained and able to broadcast without pressure on us to rattle tins in the high street. Other hospital radio staff in the UK don't have that luxury.

If the league/trust pull the plug where will that leave us all ?

I'm not asking you to give up your programs for eighteen months, just each week when you come in, try and submit some material. be it trivia or promo's etc.

Rhapsody is not a one man radio station, it's a team event!.

Ceiling Tiles Out

There is some ceiling tiles out in Engineering and in the library, this is for a task I'm working on and I am aware of it

Keep It Clean

The studio's doesn't clean itself, if you see the bins are full up, or the floor is dirty how about using the Hoover and emptying those bins it's only a small task but a clean studio complex does send the right impression !.

That's All For Now
Keep On Rocking !
